

MEDICAL AFFAIRS MANAGER

REMOTE IN GERMANY

FRANKIE@ELEMED.EU

THE COMPANY

Are you someone who has pharmaceutical or medical device experience and is looking for the next step in your career at an international level? Are you someone who enjoys speaking with healthcare professionals and also contributing to a product’s commercial success?

Here is a rare and great opportunity to join a truly multinational manufacturer and be part of this company’s new product portfolios in the DACH region and internationally. As the Medical Affairs Manager, you will be reporting directly to their Team Leader in Germany and work in a German and English bilingual environment, at one of the company's most important teams located in Germany.

elemed

THE ROLE

This exciting position will give you the opportunity to work and develop your knowledge across all of the company’s products in pharmaceuticals, medical devices, and consumer health.

You will be responsible for improving the company’s DACH and global commercial strategy by educating and enabling KOLs, internal commercial teams and working actively on real-world evidence generation. Using your scientific knowledge to help with the company's scientific publications, and build a network of KOLs and healthcare professionals and identify the right product position on the market especially on a new product in the DACH region. Furthermore, you will be responsible for representing the company at international congresses and conferences and carry out training with external stakeholders.

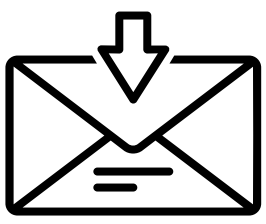
RESPONSIBLITIES

- Supporting medical affairs activities for company's main product groups (pharmaceuticals, medical devices, and consumer health) - for example: medical claims
- Manage the existing and grow the network of KOLs and healthcare professionals in the DACH region
- Educate and enable the company's KOL Speakers and internal commercial & marketing teams and improve commercial strategy and content in the DACH region and globally
- Supporting data collection and RWE generation for company's publications and strategies
- Show leadership by planning and leading Scientific Advisory Board meetings, symposia conferences,
- Represent the company at international conferences and congresses
- Approving marketing materials and supporting medical writing activities
- Travel within the DACH region up to 50% of the time

QUALIFICATIONS

- At least 2 years in a medical affairs or medical liaison role with a pharmaceutical or medical device manufacturer
- Professional language proficiency in German and English
- Eligible to live and work in Germany
- Clinical background (HCP and Surgeon) preferred

If you are interested in this exciting role, please send your application directly to:



frankie@elemed.eu

elemed