Regional QARA Specialist, DACH

FRANKIE@ELEMED.EU

The company

Are you someone who has DACH-wide Quality Management experiences and are looking for the next step in your Quality Management career in the medical devices industry at the EMEA level? Are you someone who likes influencing your colleagues about the importance of QMS for the company's business goals? Do you see yourself joining an established, medium-sized company with constantly new product innovations and strong investments in QMS?

Here is a rare and great opportunity to join an international leader in surgical technology and be part of this company's DACH growth strategy and be visible at the EMEA level. As the Regional QARA Specialist for the DACH region, you will be based at their German branch office in Frankfurt, where they have centralised sales, marketing, and customer success teams all in one place.

This is a company-critical role and your past experiences in enforcing and upgrading quality management systems can help the company to reach its business goals for the EMEA region.

The responsibilities

As the Regional QARA Specialist for DACH you will:

- Review existing and newly-implemented QMS processes, and identify areas of improvement to align them to business growth objectives and adherence to German, Swiss, and Austrian standards.
- Adapt, manage, maintain, and improve quality assurance processes for DACH operations - including CAPAs execution, monitoring quality objectives, internal & external audits, complaints analysis, and early warnings.
- Influence internal teams about the importance of adhering to QMS processes and standards, and help the company's management to change procedures at the EMEA level if there is a change in business needs and priorities.

Requirements

For this Regional QARA Specialist for DACH , you will bring:

- At least 5 years of track record of maintaining QMS processes in the DACH or EMEA-wide region.
- Experience within either the medical device or automotive industry is required.
- Fluent in written and spoken German and some English
- Office presence 3 days per week in Frankfurt.
